Terms and conditions

1. Fundamentals

All contracts are agreed upon according to German legislation. All offers and benefits of travel-southernafrica.com are dealt under these regulations. Changes, supplements and further agreements have to be arranged for in written form and require a confirmation. All our offers are subject to alteration.

2. Use of the platform & our benefits

A contract is confirmed after the confirmation (order confirmation or invoice). All information published is due to the information received at the time of the order. travel-southernafrica.com reserves the right to acknowledge the participation of new tourism related products.

3. Rates & Conditions of payment

All prices are according to the relevant price list at the time of the order. All payments are due within 30 days from the date of the relevant invoice.

4. Liability and guarantee & domain

We are not liable for any reservations that came true due to the use of the internet platform travel-southernafrica.com. All contracts in regards of reservations are handled between the tourism-related products and their clients themselves. The products represented through travel-southernafrica.com are responsible for the information published on their website interlinked with travel-southernafrica.com. There is no obligation from travel-southernafrica.com to check the relevant websites. Travel-southernafrica.com will not link with websites that contain illegal or illegitimate information.

All information published on travel-southernafrica.com has to be checked by each participant. Defective information has to be reported in written form within 30 days after the confirmation that the information has been published on travel-southernafrica.com.

Travel-southernafrica.com cannot be held responsible for defects of the Internet.

Furthermore the author is not liable for the topicality, correctness and quality/completeness of the information published. The author cannot be claimed for any damages that resulted of the use of defective or incomplete information published – as long as the author cannot be hold responsible for intenteive or negligent behaviour.

5. Protection of data privacy

The client allows travel-southernafrica.com to save personal data that is provided with the business relationship. It is travel-southernafrica.com's intention to expose product related information by means of the Internet in order to make it accessible to everybody. If this is not wanted travel-southernafrica.com has to be informed accordingly.

6. Salvatorical clause

Should one or more conditions of this contract be -totally or in parts- unlawful, all other conditions remain untouched. These unlawful conditions will be replaced in retrospective and a regulation that will contain -if possible- a similar content to fulfil the aim of the contract.
